

INDOREX

Many years ago in a town in England there was a story about a monster called "Indorex" who lived in the mountains and when he went down to the villages, if you looked at him he would turn you into a statue. Every day new and strange statues were discovered and there was always someone missing. People were afraid !!. One strange day disappeared and was never spoken of again.

