

MYSTERIOUS LEGEND

Irma lived in a village under water that surrounded a glass, this was called Aguas Silvestres in which they had only one rule, not to rise to the surface.

Legend has it that a man from that village was unfaithful to his wife, with one from the surface and as his wife was the king's daughter, he put a spell on that town that made the inhabitants turn to dust if they went up, to prevent it from happening again...

Irma didn't believe a word they said and as she was a curious teenager she decided to check it herself by breaking that rule...

After months of not knowing anything about her, everyone affirmed the legend, not knowing that she had stayed forever...
